

Becca Corah

I have called Whitefish, Montana home for the past 27 years, where I live with my husband and our Labrador. Eleven years ago, I donated my left kidney to someone I barely knew through work, and that experience reinforced my belief in making the most of every adventure. Today, you'll usually find me exploring mountain trails, trail running, traveling, or wandering the woods in search of wild herbs and mushrooms.